MIT 100 Advanced Intercom System

$220.00

The MIT 100 is one of the most popular intercom systems in the world because it allows riders the ability to incorporate a communication and entertainment system usually found on touring motorcycles costing over $25,000 for around 200 dollars. Multiple input sockets allow the addition of peripheral audio sources (music, radar detector, GPS, cellular phone, and two-way radio) with auto prioritization. The kit includes everything you need to get set up, including the 12v battery connection kit plus rider and passenger headsets. The kit even includes two way radio adapters for most popular radios.

The MIT 100 provides outstanding audio quality even at speeds in excess of 100 mph with proper speaker installation. It is also backed by the IMC two year product replacement warranty. So if you are looking to communicate with multiple other bikes, your passenger, as well as listen to music or GPS commands, the MIT 100 will not let you down.
